New 2024 BCMA Council Nominees

Michelle Tsin-Yi Taylor

Working in the cultural heritage sector for 15 years, Michelle is passionate about exploring Canadian identity, community engagement, and cultural memory through a framework of diversity, equity, and inclusion. Michelle is currently the Curator for the City of Delta where she works with the community and develops, maintains, and coordinates the collection and exhibitions throughout the city. She serves as a member of the IBPOC Museum Professionals Network advisory group for the BC Museums Association and is currently the CUPE 454 Diversity Executive, representing its members on the City of Delta's Diversity, Inclusion and Anti-Racism Committee. Michelle has previously worked for the City of New Westminster, the Britannia Mine Museum, Place des Arts, Vancouver Chinatown Foundation's Storytelling Centre, Museum of Vancouver, Royal BC Museum, and Langley Centennial Museum and has served on the Board of Directors for the Port Coquitlam Heritage and Cultural Society.

Chris Earle

Chris Earle is a Chartered Professional Accountant and a Chartered Director, who has held progressive leadership roles in several of Canada's larger publicly traded technology companies and emerging not-for-profit organizations. He is currently a principal at Redmond Advisory Group Inc. He has over 30 years of significant staff, board and board committee experience serving in a variety of roles such as: Vice President of Finance, Director of Finance (staff roles) along with Board Chair and Treasurer positions. The organizations include Telus, BC Hydro, Saint Michael's Centre Hospital Society, Coast Funds, Legal Services Society (Legal Aid BC) and MPA Society. In these positions, Chris worked closely with senior management teams and boards to oversee the organization's financial stewardship and governance. Chris recently moved to Victoria from Vancouver and maximizes the opportunity to sail the Pacific Northwest and gravel bike on the island.
